

Location:

Bulverde, TX

For Availability Contact:

Raymond Nelson
AAC Consulting Group, Inc.
Phone (626) 839-5871
E-mail margaret@gte.net
Web: <http://www.aacgroup.com>

John W. Davis, Jr.

---

Education

June, 1961 - Capital University, Columbus, Ohio

BS in Biology with minor in microbiology

Professional experience

8/62 - 6/71 US Food and Drug Administration - Investigator
Baltimore, MD, Washington, DC and Richmond, VA

Conducted FDA inspectional activities including inspections of produce growers to determine pesticide usage.

6/71 - 1/84 US Food and Drug Administration- Supervisory Investigator
Indianapolis, IN

Directed inspections of PCB's in milk traced to silage in silo's treated with PCB containing a PCB sealant, botulism toxin in green beans, and botulism toxin in mushrooms.

1/84 - 1/98 US Food and Drug Administration- Supervisory Investigator
San Antonio, TX

Directed numerous inspections including arsenic in baby food carrots, listeria in frozen vegetables & Mexican style cheeses, aflatoxin in corn and dioxin in animal feeds and fish.

Awards

1973 - Dept of Health, Education and Welfare Regional Directors Citation " For Superior effort in helping to prevent a major health catastrophe due to mushroom products contaminated with C. botulinum efficient coordination of the combined staff of FDA, State & Local Health Officials"

1982 - FDA Award of Merit - " For outstanding contributions to FDA programs covering medicated feeds, illegal residues in meat and poultry and Federal-State cooperation."

1998 - FDA Group Recognition Award as a member of the Dioxin Investigation Group "For meritorious service in the completion of a multi-agency dioxin investigation contributing to significant consumer protection while minimizing economic impact on industry."

Professional memberships

Association of Food and Drug Officials